NEW PATCH ALERT 2015-6 HUBBLE SPACE TELESCOPE 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Hubble Space Telescope 25th Anniversary Commemorative

Launched aboard the orbiter Discovery on mission STS-31 April 24, 1990, initial tests indicated a spherical aberration in the primary mirror. Hubble was thought by many to be a colossal failure. In 1993 and during four subsequent servicing missions shuttle astronauts upgraded the HST and in fact improved it's hardware significantly. These upgrades allowed Hubble to rewrite astronomy textbooks for generations to come. This design showcases Hubble orbiting the Earth peering into deep space. The inner border is reminiscent of the primary mirror and is bordered by the six HST mission numbers. The gold astronaut pin pays tribute to those "Hubble Huggers" who performed the EVA's.

This design was created by Tim Gagnon of Titusville, FL and Jorge Cartes of Madrid, Spain.
